DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Guerra in view of Bailey. Guerra discloses in the Figures and the specification a practice device to simulate skateboarding comprising an elongated structure having a center section and front and rear sections having adjoining upper and lower surfaces, the center section having a lower smooth surface. From Figure 1, it is apparent that the front and rear sections extend from the center section at a angle within the claimed range. Guerra fails to disclose a ridge which forms a lowered interior section. Bailey discloses in Figures 1 and 7 a skateboard deck having a ridge 22 which extends around the perimeter of the board, forming a lowered interior. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the relevant art to modify the teachings of Guerra by providing a ridge as disclosed by Bailey for the purpose of protecting the edge of the elongated structure.

Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Guerra in view of Bailey, and further in view of Gordon. Guerra as viewed in combination with Bailey discloses all of the claimed limitations with the exception of the device being made of plastic. However, it is well known to construct skateboard decks using plastic, as disclosed for example in column 4, lines 4-11 of Gordon. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the relevant art to modify the teachings of Guerra by using plastic to form the device as disclosed by Gordon for the purpose of providing a durable material.

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Guerra in view of Bailey, and further in view of Turner. Guerra as viewed in combination with Bailey discloses all of the claimed limitations with the exception of the device being made of plastic. However, it is known to provide grip pads on skateboard decks, as disclosed for example in Figure 1 and in the specification of Turner. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the relevant art to modify the teachings of Guerra by providing a grip pad for the purpose of enabling a user to more easily grip the elongated structure during use.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-10 are allowed.

Claims 12-14 and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art fails to disclose or suggest a device having all of the claimed limitations. In particular, with respect to claims 1 and 12, there is no disclosure of an interior hollow chamber containing noisemaking material as recited. This feature, discussed at pages 11-12 of the specification, has a functional purpose in that it enables a user to more easily sense the movement of the board. With respect to claims 7 and 17, there is no suggestion in the prior art of a vertical wall formed by the ridge as recited. The ridge of Bailey, as shown in Figure 7, is rounded. The vertical wall has utility in that a user may rest his or her foot against the wall during use, gaining increased traction and facilitating training. See page 11, lines 6-11 of the specification. As a result, these claims and their dependents contain allowable subject matter.

Art Unit: 3711

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Loveless, Todd, Steiner, Corbalis, Desberg, Bobrowicz, Wilson, and Spencer disclose various skateboards and skateboard training devices.
